Desperate Convict From Lynchburg Leader of Gang-How Work Was Done.

A counterfelting outfit operated within the State prison walls is a rather unique arrangement and yet that is what has just been discovered and broken up in the Virginia ponitentiary.

For several days there have been perprisoners in the penitentiary were tumclo Sam,"but the schete wsa only unearthed yesterday, when the rumors were prought to the attention of Superintendent Bolling and the Board of Directors. / conference was held, after which Mr.

terfelting outfit. Quarters, dimes and nickels were made, but we believe none have gotton into circulation."

"Babbit motal, scraps of lead and old shoe buckles were used in making the coin. The Babbit motal was gotten from the shoe shop, when a machine was repaired, and the lead was obtained from old tomato cans. It is claimed that the plaster paris was gotten from a plumber recently doing work in the institution for the shoe company. All of the captured coin will be turned over to the United States authorities who will be put in possession of the facts."

A Desperate Man.

A Desperate Man.

The man who was the leader, of the counterfeiting gang is Walter Turpin, a long-term white prisoner from Lynchourg, who is regurded as a desperate character, with a record as a jail-breaker and all round crook. He was assisted in his operations by one or two others, among the party being a life prisoner.

The matter leaked out through the changing of a quarter at the prison. One of the convicts wanted a coin of this denomination changed and he applied to one of the prisoners who subsequently turned out to be a counterfeiter. He was given a good nickel and two spurious dimes and an investigation followed with the results given above.

As soon as there was the slightest suggestion that counterfelt money was bying made in the prison the officers went to work and quickly landed the culpris.
It is likely that when the terms of the men, not life prisoners, shall expire, they will be tried in the United States Court on the charge of making and circulating spurious coin. As a matter of fact, it is not known that any of it is actually in circulation, but it was evidently made with this end in view.

of the Richmond Horse Show Associa-tion was held yesterday, with but few stockholders present in person, but with over three hundred of the five hundred shares of stock represented. Directors were elected for the ensuing year, reports of officers submitted, and preliminary plans for the 1906 show considered and discussed. The president submitted his report of discussed.

The president submitted his report of the operations of the association for the year, and forecasting in some measure the show for this year. In this report it was stated that plans are being undertaken for a closer alliance between the New York, Chicago and Richmond shows, whereby this city will secure many of the fine harness exhibits shown at New York and Chicago, while those cities will secure many of the crack hunters of this State. These plans are yet in embryo, but the officials of the Richmond Association are very hopeful that they will so mature as to add greatly to the interest of the Richmond Horse Show.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer show that the profits of the association from the show of 1904 were just about the same as those for 1903, and therefore very satisfactory. The association has now fully paid for its amplitheatre out of the income from the shows, and the profits hereafter will be devoted to dividends, it is presumed.

The association did not elect officers, but adjourned the meeting to April 22d, at which time it is likely the present officers will be re-elected. Mr. C. W. Smith, who has so successfully managed the four previous shows, will in all probability be made manager this year also.

The association adopted a resolution of sympathy for Treasurer J. S. Cronshaw, who is ill.
